EDITOR :: AUTHOR :: CLERGYMAN :: LECTURER

Kirby Page is Editor of THE WORLD TOMORROW, "a journal looking toward a social order based on the religion of Jesus," published monthly in New York City, with influential subscribers in every state of the Union and in forty-six foreign countries. So highly is this periodical regarded that recently six distinguished clergymen—Harry Emerson Fosdick, S. Parkes Cadman, Charles W. Gilkey, Francis J. McConnell, Joseph Fort Newton and Daniel A. Poling—signed a joint appeal to their fellow-ministers to extend its circulation.

His pamphlets are: International Relations; Danger Zones of the Social Order; A National Peace Department; Was Jesus a Patriot; France and the Peace of Europe; Incentives in Modern Life; United States Steel Corporation; Collective Bargaining; Industrial Facts.

Concerning the volume War: Its Causes, Consequences and Cure, Harry Emerson Fosdick said in his Introduction: "Mr. Page has written for us one of the most challenging books that has appeared for many a year." Former Justice John H. Clarke of the United States Supreme Court in writing an Introduction to An American Peace Policy referred to this book as "original, illuminating and authoritative." With regard to Dollars and World Peace, Wm. P. Merrill, Chairman, World Alliance for Friendship through the Churches, said: "It is a notable example of what we need,—high idealism that is generous to others' views and sound in reasoning. In my opinion it is the best yet on Intervention, Outlawry of War, Interallied Debts, especially the last."

His articles have been published in the following periodicals: The Atlantic Monthly, The Living Age, The Survey, The Christian Century, The Nation, The Churchman, Intercollegian, Association Men and The New York Times.

"CHRISTIANITY AND MODERN SOCIAL ISSUES"

Picture about 1934
- Mrs. Page

Kirby Page is author of fifteen volumes dealing with international, economic, social and religious questions. His books have been translated into many languages; editions have been published in England and in India. Sales of his books and pamphlets total a million copies!

His "Living Creatively" was ranked first out of 436 volumes by religious workers with students in a national survey by the Hazen Foundation. "Individualism and Socialism" was recommended by the Book of the Month Club and "Jesus or Christianity" by the Religious Book Club. From 1926 to 1934 Mr. Page was Editor of The World Tomorrow. He is now contributing Editor of The Christian Century.

On visits to 35 countries, he has spoken before many college audiences. Whether in lecture, forum or informal question period, he speaks with simple clarity, with intense conviction and an amazingly wide grasp of facts. Among college men and women Mr. Page is a beloved leader.

The Student Christian Movement has always had a deep concern for the building of a social and economic order in accord with the principles and spirit of Jesus. With situations growing more and more acute in our national and international life, the local and intercollegiate expression of the Movement must become more effective in clarifying issues and assisting students to participate intelligently in social and economic reconstruction.

Because Kirby Page has a unique contribution to make in this field, the Student Christian Movement is glad to present him to colleges of the Middle Atlantic Region in this series of seminars on "Christianity and Modern Social Issues."
